The Young Palms.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Jose and Tomas Palma, two of the president's sons, have sailed for New York, says a Havana dispatch to the Tribune.

Jose returns north to take his examination at Columbia Law School. Tomas attends school at Newburg. President Palma, who, with other high officials, went aboard to bid them good bye, was quite overcome by the parting. He gave each son a hearty embrace as he left the steamer and spoke words of encouragement to both.

Living Pictures.

NEW YORK, June 2.—In order to impress upon the public the iniquity of child labor, the organized labor bodies of New Jersey will, according to the World's special from Trenton, N. J., exhibit throughout the state twelve children whose ages range from 8 to 10 years, taken from the glass factories at Minatola.

Morgan's Movements.

NEW YORK, June 2.—J. Pierpont Morgan, leaving Rome for Venice, on board the Corsair, cables the Rome correspondent of the Tribune, said that he was going to Athens and will return to Venice in two weeks, and go to London for the coronation.

Black Sea Wrecks.

LONDON, June 2.—The wrecks in the Black sea as a result of the recent heavy weather are limited to small sailing craft along the Atlantic shore. There were few fatalities.

BOGUS JEWELS IN EDWARD'S CROWN

NEW YORK, May 31.—A cable to the World from London says: Two jewel experts who have examined the regalia to be used at the coronation of England's sovereign have made the discovery that nearly one-half of the "gems" in the regalia are spurious. Nearly all the large stones have been replaced by imitations.

The discovery confirms the statements made in various memoirs that Queen Victoria's two immediate predecessors, William IV and George IV, resorted to the expedient of selling or pawning the crown jewels when they found themselves in financial difficulties.

It is said that King Edward refuses to be crowned with paste jewels and has ordered that the imitation stones in the regalia be replaced by real gems, for whose temporary possession he will pay. The utmost secrecy is maintained concerning the crowns the King and Queen will wear at the coronation; no one has been permitted even to see them.

The English crown regalia was estimated to be worth many millions before the two experts made the discovery. The regalia is kept carefully guarded in the tower. The same crowns, orbs and scepters have been used again and again by successive sovereigns.

Sent Up for Flirting.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Police Justice Marshall of Mount Vernon has sentenced Alice Myers, a young woman of that place, to 60 days in the county jail for flirting with a builder of Port Chester by telephone. Several months ago the builder met Miss Myers. She looked up his telephone number and was, his wife alleges, continually ringing his house and asking him to meet her. Usually the telephone was answered by his wife, who exhausted every effort to find out her husband's admirer's name. Miss Myers' attorneys secured her release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Venezuela Arming.

NEW YORK, June 2.—President Castro of Venezuela has ordered a German firm 10,000 Mauser rifles and 3,000,000 rounds of ammunition, says a Wilmington, Delaware, dispatch to the Herald. This is regarded as proof that the Venezuelan government is short of arms and ammunition.
